Julián Carrón's Disarming Beauty, recently published by the University of Notre Dame Press, offers a broad diagnosis of many of the challenges of our time: education, politics, freedom, the economy, and terrorism, and gives a broad diagnosis of their implications in modern society. The book offers a hypothesis for addressing these challenges which is both unique and provoking.

The evening will be a dialogue among the two discussants Michael Huemer and Curtis Martin, who will delve into the book with its author Julián Carrón.

Fr. Carrón is the present leader of the ecclesial Catholic movement Communion and Liberation, founded by Luigi Giussani in 1954.
